Annual Peace Service

Blessed Are The Peacemakers

(The following is the text from an address given by Rev. M. G. Stimpson, pastor of Appomattox Court House Presbyterian Church, Appomattox, during the annual Peace Service at Appomattox Court House National Historical Park, Sunday, April 7, marking the 98th anniversary of the signing of terms of peace between the North and the South by Generals Ulysses S. Grant and Robert E. Lee.)

Scripture: Isaiah 2:2-4. Matthew 5:9 Sermon on the Mount

"Blessed are the peacemakers for they shall be called the children of God." Who is sufficient to talk on peace, for the subject of peace is as complicated as life and as broad as the world.

The desires and dreams of peace come to us on of the past. Beautiful dreams they are, but are they only dreams? From the pen of another fairly close to our time comes the challenging question, "Is peace only a dream?" (Studdert - Kennedy)

"Is It a Dream?"

Is it a dream and nothing more — this faith. That nerves our brains to thought, our hands to work. For that great day when wars shall cease, and men shall live as brothers in a unity. Of love — live in a world made upended? (Studdert - Kennedy)

Palm Sunday — 1865

Our minds today are turned back to that day Palm Sunday, 1865, when a step toward peace was made. Two great gentlemen met and worked out as honorable peace agreement. Surely all of us who have read the account of that meeting in the old McLean house could not help but be moved by its description — as these two men of strength and stature, displayed their wisdom and selflessness — whereby a new day was made possible for the establishment of peace and unity in this — theirs and now, our beloved land.

However, out of those days, one may be reminded that the way of peace is not always easy; rather, often quite to the contrary.

As the historians tell us, those last days of the war were a nightmare to the armies of the South. They were hounded to General Lee — to Lee as he corresponded with President Davis encouraging efforts toward working out an honorable treaty — every day and night of that long, disappointing march from Richmond to Appomattox — saying when surrender seemed the only alternative, "I would rather die a thousand deaths than to have to go through with the surrender."

He could have ended it all in death and been relieved of it. He could have thrown all his men in the fight to the end. For the sake of his men and his beloved South, he chose the harder way for himself — to secure an honorable peace.

Challenge To Work For Peace

If the way seems yet hard for us today, the realization of those hard days of 1865 may give us some challenge not to lose heart.

We are challenged to be workers toward peace.

Because the way seems hard and long then, is no reason for giving up.

However, one asks, "Is there any sure way to peace?" There seem to be many who are afraid to work and sacrifice to build peace, for there is no guarantee that peace can ever become a reality or at least for long kept, so all effort would be but a waste of energy.

The Man of Nazareth says there is a way to peace. That the failure of man to arrive at that way is but a failure of recognition and acceptance of that way. For the God who has made our world and man has provided a way in Love.

Palm Sunday, A.D. 30

We see Him on that Palm Sunday, A. D. 30, riding into Jerusalem on a colt, offering Himself as their King, with the power to give peace. But tears fall from His eyes as He says, "Would that even today you knew the things that make for peace! But now they are hid from your eyes. The days are coming when your enemies will dash you to the ground."

Robert E. Lee, called in for questioning by a committee in Washington in February, 1866, testified that it was his belief that the Civil War could have been avoided.

He said, "I believe that the position of the two sections which they held to each other was brought about by the politicians of the country; that the masses of the people, if they understood the real question, would have avoided it. It believe it was an unnecessary condition of affairs, and might have been avoided if forbearance and wisdom had been practiced on both sides."

In some of the other wars we have been engaged in since, other historians have pointed out that we as a nation might very well have played a more significant role in preventing war, rather than having had to win them.

This is not to say that when certain situations had arisen, and conditions become what they were, there was but little alternative but to fight, and to fight bravely and courageously and to win.

But the Man of Nazareth says that God has provided a way of peace for the world. A way that is open to every man.

At His birth —the angels sang of peace on earth, good will toward men. He offered peace with God; peace with men.

No one could say His way of peace was easy — it required years of preparation. It required deep thinking, earnest praying, hard working.

He brought peace to men as He gave himself to eliminating ignorance and disease and poverty. He even gave his life on a Cross — but He brought peace to those He loved — and to the whole world.

Why didn't more accept Him and His peace when He was on earth? Seemingly, they wanted a Messiah who would do everything for them and thus absolve them of any responsibility, any change of living, in thinking, any toil, and labor on their part.

They wanted only to receive the advantages without accepting any responsibility

The way was offered — but they would not receive Him.

We have been told that the vast majority of Negroes during the Civil War were faithful to their masters and mistresses; rarely ever betraying the trust placed in them.

But they dreamed of the day of freedom — And when the day of peace came they thought the Millenium had come — the day of Paradise: for they thought they would no longer be required to labor — to toil. They could visualize no responsibility on their part for the future. The day of Peace became the beginning of disillusionment. Their bewilderment has lingered long.

Many peoples of the world have been given their freedom in our generation — the day of their liberation has been one of great celebration. But to their bewilderment they find conflicts and wars, hunger and suffering, and awared not at all they had dreamed it would be — Their new masters become harder than the old.

We have not altogether escaped either. We have our freedom still. We live in the great new age of science. A new era of prosperity. Food enough for all. Every gadget under the sun.

We live in a time of great educational advancement, as well as flight into space, even — Social Security. And yet, our world seems to be falling apart. Fear grips us as our enemies threaten to bury us, and nothing, even at home, seems to work out right. We have anything but security.

Card Of Thanks

I wish to thank my friends, neighbors and relatives for the many ways in which they remembered me during my illness. Also for the visits, cards and phone calls. S. J. Evans. 4-11-1p

I wish to thank all my friends, neighbors and relatives for cards, gifts and flowers sent me while in the hospital and since my return home. Mrs. Jack Godsey.

O God, whose will is life and peace.
For all the sons of men
Let not our human hearts release.
The sword's dread power again
Forgive our narrowness of mind;
Destroy false pride, we plead;
Deliver us and all mankind
From selfishness and greed.

O God, who callest us to peace.
We join with everyone
Who does his part that wars may cease
And justice may be done.
Enable us to take the way,
The Prince of Peace hath trod;
Create the will to build each day
The family of God.

by Roland W. Schloerb

I wish to express my sincere appreciation to my friends, relatives and neighbors for their kindness shown me during my recent stay in the hospital. Also for the cards, visits and flowers. L. J. Morris. 4-11-1c

We wish to thank all the friends who have given us gifts of food, clothing, and household furnishings following the fire which completely destroyed our home. A special thank you to Poe Hardware for assisting us in so many ways. Charlie and Bertha Love. 4-11-1tp

CYRUS: The members of the family of Mr. A. R. Cyrus wish to thank their many dear friends and neighbors for the kindness shown them during the loss of their loved one. Also for the food, visits, cards and beautiful flowers, which were a comfort to our hearts. May God bless each and everyone. The Family 4-11-1p

I wish to thank my friends, neighbors and relatives for their kindness shown me during my recent stay in the hospital. Also for the visits, cards and gifts. Grover Beasley, Sr. 4-11-1p
